Mr. C. Fais, at whose house White had been living for the past two years, said that White had come from Norvolk, Va., where he was a Judge. " He was a very quest man," said Mr. Fais, " and spoke little about himself. We only saw him once a month, on rent day. The only thing of his family relations that we know is that he has a sister living somewhere in New Hampshire. He was a very industrious, orderly and sober man."
